However, whilst a study of the early stages of Christianity may be interesting, its historical origins are not vitally important in understanding its detrimental, potentially disastrous effects on the West (aided as it is by other forms). The emphasis of Christianity is on individual salvation - not the salvation of a Folk - and the encouragement of meekness, pacifism, guilt. Where in any of the Nazarene doctrines can be found the inspiration that should impart to the Aryan race a sense of its own Destiny? Where are the Heroic Tales? The emphasis on the Family , the Community? What has Christianity produced but a sickness of spirit, a turning away from Nature - a supplanting of all noble Aryan values with a cowering weakness that has led to this present day decadent society, a society that seeks to believe that things are other than they are, that we have somehow 'risen above' the brutal realities of Nature. What has Christianity done for women? Once - eg. in Viking society - women would fight alongside men in battle (war was personified by most Pagan societies as a Goddess), and were revered for their supreme beauty. No surprise then, that the White Race is heading for extinction.

National-Socialism has progressed significantly since the immolation of the Chief in 56 yf. We have never been more aware of our Destiny than we are today. We have overcome such difficulties and moved ever nearer to attaining the Freedom that is our Right by Nature. But the one cancerous presence in our World-View is the one thing left that most Comrades are fearful to relinquish. Until we eradicate Christianity from the West - and are not afraid of doing so - National-Socialism cannot succeed. It is as simple and as harsh as that. Whilst Christianity continues to grip the hearts of Aryans, the Zionist will continue to dominate. We must remember that the Chief was to end Christian influence in NS Germany and revitalize the Pagan roots of the West; it was only when this aim was not consciously understood by the public, did he, for tactical reasons, make peace with the churches. We can now consciously understand and implement what was known then by a very few. This would guarantee Victory.

Faith is vital in a society, and National-Socialism is fundamentally a spiritual movement. In National-Socialism, we already have our heroes, our Gods - our Religion. We have our glorious History, our Roots - our 'Genesis'; as we already have the promise and vision of Deliverance by the Aryan Spirit from the Zionist Tyranny.

Time is running out for us: we either decline to extinction, pathetically, like the meek Christian dross the Zionist wishes us to be; or we rise, once again, like our Viking ancestors to ruthlessly restore the balance of Nature, becoming the Great People we, in essence, still are.

JOTUNSS

JOTUNSS is the generic name of the 'Dark' Giants of Norse myth. It is also the name of an American Motorcycle Club with some very distinguishing characteristics. We recently received the following communication from JOTUNSS national president "Deacon", and we look forward to hearing further from them.

"Jotunss M/C are about two years old. I previously rode with the "Norsemen of Midgard" M/C. As national club president I shun all drug and alcohol use, and do not tolerate the abuse or B.S. it brings most clubs. Our bylaws forbid any drug use or excessive use of alcohol.

Most of our members are former National Socialists, so it is not a problem for us. New members must be Pagan, Odinist, or at least agnostic.

We have a "sister" club called VALKYRIES, which is led by Kathie, my better half. We prize our women and children and will gladly fight to protect them.

We will respect anyone's beliefs whether they are Odinist or not, as long as they respect ours. We love nature and animals like any good Pagans. Some of our brothers drink (moderately) but we are all very health conscious, and I presently hold this area's record in the weighted one-arm pushups.

Though we aren't listed as an Outlaw club we still get hassled alot by authorities because they think we're a Satanist group. We're not, but I do have Satanist friends, as well as Wiccan, etc. Stay Strong. Hail Odin! Hail Loki!

LOKI

As the father of Hela, Fenrir and Iormungand, and the blood brother of Odin, Loki represents a true embodiment of the Four, PARADOX.

Loki was the child of the giant Farbauti (Cruel Striker) and the giantess Laufey (Wooded Isle). He was conceived when his father struck Laufey with a lightning bolt. The bolt would have set the 'wooded isle' alight, and so Loki is fire, born from fire. His character and nature are shaped both by the genes of his Jotun parents and his method of conception: right from his birth he displays the fiery character that eventually brings about the destruction of the world. Fire is both a friend and a foe; it is an aid to humankind and yet it has the inherent potential to destroy all.

Primarily Loki was a fire god the name of the fire god Loge being indicative of Loki - in the times of animism, but as the mythology of the Aesir developed he acquired new status and new roles. He became the blood brother of Odin and was counted within the Aesir despite his Jotun blood, although the Aesir are themselves of Jotun stock, Odin being the son of the giant Bor - and accumulated more tales and myths than even Odin or the mighty Thor.

Loki is described as being handsome, dashing and attracted to the goddesses of Asgard, the feeling being mutual. He is quick witted, hot of temper, and spiteful, although not necessarily malicious. Essentially, Loki gives the impression of an exuberant youth; he rarely contemplates the results of his actions, but when cornered he is able to escape relatively unscathed. As the blood brother of Odin, he is safe from the respite of the other gods and so he gives the impression of a spoilt child.

While the gods and goddesses of Asgard are sombre and purposeful, knowing the fate that awaits them, Loki is the court jester, leaving a smile on the face of every god. Often however the humour is at the expense of others; in "Lokasenna" (Loki's Mocking) from the Elder Edda, he insults every one of the Aesir. He called Odin a transvestite who dabbled in magick and awarded victory to cowards; accused Freyja of sleeping with all the gods - an accusation that is not far from the truth - and boasted of seducing Sif, the wife of Thor, and Skadi the wife of Njord. It is interesting to note in reference to Skadi that when her father the frost giant Thiazzi, was killed by the Aesir (instigated by Loki) she threatened the gods into giving her a husband and making her laugh. Her heart was cold and full of rage and it was only Loki coverting with one of thor's goats that made her, and the rest of the gods, laugh til their sides ached. Skadi was however responsible for causing loki the most pain when he was bound by the gods.

Loki's remarks about the sexuality of Odin are perhaps a self-conscious reference to himself, for Loki has the most peculiar sexual exploits of all the gods. Not only does he sire Hela, Fenrir and Iormungand, a wolf and a serpent no less, but he is also transsexual and bisexual. when Asgard was being built by the giant Hrimthurs, Loki transformed into a pretty mare and lured the giant's horse Svadilfari away so that the building could not be completed. From this equine coupling Loki gave birth to the eight-legged horse Sleipnir which he gave to Odin. At Ragnarok Odin rode Sleipnir into battle and so, as Fenrir killed the All-Father, it may be presumed he killed his horse halfbrother also.

Furthermore, Loki has no aversion to transvestitism, transforming into the form of the coal-hearted giantess Thokk, who would not weep for Balder.

THE CHILD

The sexuality of Loki is an expression of his freedom - unhampered by moral paradigms, and his gender paradox: he is bound extricably to the Primer Mater, both literally and symbolically. Loki bears the surname Laufeyson, a reference to his mother, not his father, showing wherein his power lies: the feminine. Likewise his rune Kaunaz has a female polarity. He is a part of the Primer Mater: there is a method to his madness, an order to his chaos; while his actions often seem sporadic and unplanned they are in fact an expression of the Primer Mater. As his daughter Hela is the Dark, Left-hand soul of Nature, so Loki is the Light, Right-hand side of her. He is the child who is not afraid to dream, the irresponsibility without which the world, the Aesir, are stangnant and reflective. He is laughter, the snigger in the corner, the witty aside, the remark that stings and induces discovery. He shows both the gods and humanity that we, as children of Primer Mater, cannot afford to take ourselves seriously all the time.

THE INSTIGATOR

As with all of the Four, Loki embodies dramatic and destructive change, however the difference lies in his role as the instigator of this change.

The first major act of change is the creation of the means to destroy the Aesir; his fathering of Hela, Iormungand and Fenrir. the giantess Angrboda, was an apt choice to mother his Jotun children. she was his 'Outlander' wife, while the faithful Sigyn was his wife in Asgard. Angrboda later became a giant spy in Asgard posing as Freyja's maid. she may also be the mother of Gerda, the wife of Frey. Sigyn has two sons by Loki, Vali and Navri.

The birth of the Three sets in motion events that ensure the inevitability of Ragnarok. It is the first stage in the defining of a new cycle of Wyrd.

The second stage occurs with the death of Balder. loki's Light aspect, Balder, the shining son of Odin and Frigg, was predicted to die and so his mother sent messengers throughout the world extracting oaths from every living thing that they would not harm Balder. But the mistletoe plant was not asked to vow because it seemed so small and frail and unable to be of any threat. With nothing being able to harm Balder, the gods used to throw things at the Shining God and watch them glance off him with no harm. However, Loki, disguised as a crone, was able to learn from Frigg that the mistletoe had not taken the vow, and brought a sprig to where the gods were playing. He gave it to the blind god Hodur (Balder's brother) and offered to guide his hand; the mistletoe struck Balder and he fell dead. Hodur was killed by Odin's newborn son Vali The Avenger, and Balder went to Helheim where he sat on the right hand of Hela until after Ragnarok when he returned with Hodur.

The third stage encompasses the binding of all the Four. Note that the events of stages do not necessarily occur concurrently: Hela was given the domain of The Underworld, Iormungand thrown into the Sea of Midgard, Fenrir chained to the Gulf of Black Grief, and Loki chained beneath the earth.

The gods having been angered by Loki's mocking (The Lokasenna) and with the death of Balder fresh in their minds, set out to punish him. Odin from his high seat was able to see where Loki hid in the form of a slamon and sent a group of gods to capture him. Caught by Thor, he was dragged into a dark cave by the gods, who brought his two sons Vali and Navri also. They turned Vali into a wolf and he killed his brother. With Navri's intestines they bound Loki to a rock, and turned the bonds, once tight, to iron. Skade placed a serpent above the bound Loki that dropped venom onto his face, making him writhe with pain. Loyal Sigyn sat by him holding a bowl to catch the venom, but whenever she emptied the bowl a few drops would fall on him, making him shake the earth as an earthquake.

The fourth stage is the unleashing the of Dark Forces, particularly Fenrir and Loki, for the feminine powers (Hela and Iormungand) already have a degree offreedom. Fenrir, empowered by Wyrd, breaks the bonds of Gleipnir, and Loki likewise breaks the bonds that bind him, and Ragnarok ensues. Each of the four stages is a direct result of the actions of Loki and every action incurs change. Every action enforces the cycle of Wyrd, every stage being a separate wyrdic cycle withina greater one.

THE PROUD

Loki is fiercely proud and self-assured. None of the Aesir, Vanir or Jotun can compare to hisself-possession. If vanity was a crime he would be guilty. Essentially, Loki's nature in this respect is Faustian/Luciferian/Promethean. He is the man who would, and will be, god. Coming of pure Jotun stock he works his way up to achieving the godhood of the Aesir, the divinity offered by Asgard.

His is the fiery spirit of Homo Galactica. If one were to rename that spark inherent in Western Civilization, that desires to reach the stars, one could call it LOKIAN. As the possessor of this spark he also gives it to others; he is the Light-bearer who ignites the divinity within, shaking the sullied mind into action.

Like Iormungand, Loki is a universal archetype found throughout cultures of the world; in fact he is several archetypes. He is the Bound Titan - Prometheus, Azazel; The Trickster - Coyote, Hermes; The Shapeshifter - Taliesin; The Light-Bearer - Lucifer, Prometheus. He is the closest, of all the Dark Four, to human-kind because of his humanity. More than any of the others his characteristics are inherently and obviously human.

AN INTERVIEW WITH

DAVID MYATT

A life-long National-Socialist, Myatt was educated in East Africa and the Far East (where he studied Taoism). He returned to England to train as a Physicist but decided instead to dedicate his life to furthering National-Socialism and trying to bring about a NS revolution, spending several years as a revolutionary pro-NS street-activist, during which time he was imprisoned twice.

Following this second term of imprisonment, he concentrated on covert NS activities and spent some time as a 'Gentleman of the Road' before entering the noviciate of a Christian monastery. Finding Christianity to be ultimately incompatible with his National-Socialist beliefs, he left and spent several years engaged in various travels, which included studying Islam in the Middle East, cycling through the Sahara Desert, and living in a Buddhist monastery. In the eighties, he helped set up a small rural NS community.

He has in recent years concentrated on writing about National-Socialism, and supporting various revolutionary NS groups.

His literary works include translations of Aeschylus, Sophocles and Homer, two small volumes of poetry ('Gentleman of the Road' and 'Pagan Poems'), Vindex - The Destiny of the West, the eight volumes of the Thormynd Press National-Socialist Series and various other NS works.

Can you pinpoint any formative influences in your youth and family background that brought you to National-Socialism?

Although my early years were spent in Africa and the Far East when Britain still had some Imperial outposts, my interest in National-Socialism began when, at the age of fifteen, I read an account of National-Socialist Germany. Here, I intuitively sensed (despite all the anti National-Socialist propaganda in the book), was something inspiring; something vigourous and healthy. I remember being particularly impressed by reading an account of the actions of Major Otto Ernst Remer after the July 20th plot to assassinate Hitler. Here was a real warrior - someone to admire; someone who was loyal and honourable.

Some months later I knew enough about National-Socialism and Adolf Hitler to call myself a National-Socialist.

Does your admiration for the Hellenic civilization, and your translations of Greek classics, arise from formal academic training?

While I did some Greek as a School-boy, it was only when I became a Christian monk (after many years 'extreme' political activism) that I began to seriously study Greek, after beginning monastic study of that rather awful debased language which goes by the name of 'New Testament Greek'. It was really the boring awfulness of NT Greek that gave me a desire to learn the beautiful original language.

You were associated with Colin Jordan's British Movement and, I believe, were at one time his bodyguard. What brought you to Jordan's Movement? Were you associated with other 'right-wing groups' prior to or during this time. Did Jordan himself have any impact on your own thinking?

I joined British Movement not long after it was formed, following the disbandment of Jordan's National Socialist Movement. I joined basically because it seemed at the time the most radical, most pro-NS group in Britain. I was active in BM for several years, attending demonstrations, getting involved with fights with 'Reds' and so on. During one minor skirmish with some aliens, I was arrested, and subsequently served a term of imprisonment. Nothing unusual in all this - just the usual things a radical 'street-activist' does.

I was never Jordan's bodyguard per se. I just happened to be at a public BM meeting when there was no one else available to protect the speaker; the same on another occasion, at some demonstration or other.

Jordan's own writings did influence my own political development - particularly his article National Socialism: A Philosophical Appraisal which appeared in the sixties, and which was one of the first post-War, pro-NS articles I came across after beginning my quest to find out about National-Socialism. Jordan also introduced me to the writings of Savitri Devi whose book, The Lightning and the Sun, enthralled me when I first read it.

How much influence is your Thormynd Press series on NS having on NS groups worldwide? And how wide-spread is your concept of 'esoteric Hitlerism' generally among NS groups world-wide?

As for what influence my NS writings have, I really do not know. But I believe the concept of 'esoteric Hitlerism' - the understanding of the numinous significance of Adolf Hitler - is gradually becoming more widespread. Many National-Socialists instinctively sense the numinous significance of Adolf Hitler and National-Socialism - indeed, it is often this instinct, this feeling which attracts them to National-Socialism in the first instance. Many groups and individuals already consciously understand such things - for instance, NS Kindred in America, and Matt Koehl's New Order.

In a sense, I have tried to express in my writings what most National-Socialists already know and feel but often cannot themselves express very well, as I have also tried to explain in clear terms what National-Socialism itself is, and what it means in terms of our future evolution.

Can you see (if not a Vindex) a 'New Caesar' emerging in the near future to offer a Western resurgence, as per Spengler's prediction? What is your assessment of present NS and Nationalist leaders and the roles these are playing (e.g. Tyndall in Britain; Zhirinovsky; Italy's Fini; Le Pen in France et al)?

Our race is still capable of producing a Vindex-figure and thus creating a truely Western Imperium. Whether there will soon be another Chief - another Adolf Hitler (which is what Vindex would be) - is another matter. In a sense, the yearning among the Aryan masses for such a person will encourage individuals to step forward and try to make this Destiny real, but as yet the situation is not desperate enough for this mass yearning to exist. Further, it is this yearning which can make that particular Destiny real.

The present reality is that, under normal or natural circumstances, Vindex should now exist, or be soon to emerge. However, our present circumstances are not natural since our enemies have worked hard to control and materially satisfy the Aryan masses; pacifying them and trying to keep them content and tame. Thus they have tried, and are trying, to forestall the appearance of Vindex.

As to present leaders, I can only comment on the one that I have some personal knowledge of, preferring not to judge, or pass comment upon, people I personally do not know. Here in Britain, Tyndall has achieved some things due to his leadership abilities and due to his decision to follow a particular strategy: avowing 'racial nationalism' rather than overt National-Socialism, contesting 'elections' and attempting to become 'respectable'. I personally do not agree with this strategy, as I know many young Aryans in this country who believe that Tyndall has had his chance, and should step aside. But I wish Tyndall success as I believe competition should be encouraged, not decried - because through it, the strong will triumph. If there is to be a genuine leader who achieves significant things, he will triumph over all his rivals, and achieve success. So far, there has been not been much success, and no sign of the strong revolutionary leader we need.

As regards the other movements in other countries, all I will say is that on the practical level they have as yet achieved nothing. Having so many seats in some Parliament or some debating chamber means nothing - it changes nothing. Our race continues to be enslaved; more and more non-Aryans continue to pour into Aryan countries. Our Aryan culture continue to be destroyed. Of all these movements and their leaders, Zhirinovsky seems best placed to achieve real success, mostly because of the present almost revolutionary situation in Russia. As to the man himself, I cannot comment, although the fact that the Media consistently derides him is certainly interesting, considering how our enemies control and manipulate the Media for their own anti-Aryan ends.

Historically, an uncorrupted barbarian horde has seemingly been the pre-requisite for pushing away the debris of an old civilization in its death-throes so something new might emerge. Is there any such pure barbarian horde left, or alternatively can a new one be forged from the present chaos? Could Russia perhaps provide this under apt leadership?

In many ways, our present Thorian civilization is unique, partly because of what we often euphemistically call 'Zionist' domination. Thus, what happened to other civilizations does not necessarily apply in detail, although some similarities do exist. Firstly, there is already a genuinely barbarian horde present in the territories of our civilization - I refer of course to the millions upon millions of non-Aryans, the majority of which are not civilized and can never be civilized. One only has to think of what is happening in larger cities in America, and Europe, to understand the truely barbarian nature of this new horde - and there is nothing remotely 'noble' in the savagery which is an increasingly feature of everyday life in such places where this horde forms the majority.

Secondly, the presence of these barbarians is being increasingly resented and is increasingly leading to young Aryans forming their own 'warrior bands', or 'warrior clans', which fight, often in a primitive way, for territory. These emerging Aryan clans are essentially fulfilling the rôle played by the pure 'barbarians' in the fall of other civilizations. [It is unfortunate that the term 'barbarian' has been used to describe some of these tribes since they were often civilized.] These new Aryan clans have rejected the bourgeois-liberal morality and bourgeois-liberal ways of living which are cancerously eating away at our civilization, and as such these clans have the potential to destroy what is decaying and diseased, and so usher in a new beginning. I am referring here, of course, to groups like Skinheads. I see these people as among the best of our race - a sign that we still have some vigour, and can still produce real warriors who 'think with their blood'.

Thus, instead of there being an external barbarian horde, there will be, for our civilization, an internal one.

How do you see the world situation shaping in the near future (say over the next few decades)? The roles of the USA, of Russia, of China, Asia and Japan? Can we expect a revival of ancient ethnic States as per the break-up of the USSR and Yugoslavia; or temporary success for the 'New World Order' and its accompanying global consumer culture?

It is likely that over the next few decades the world-situation will change slowly, and almost imperceptibly with global-consumerism gradually tightening its grip on places like China, and with the mis-named 'New World Order' becoming more repressive. This 'Order' is basically the rule of International Finance allied to a materialistic consumerism, and the Zionist cabal who created this, and who are in control, in effect pull the strings of the puppet government of America, using the technological, military and financial might of that country for their own messianic ends. The slow change toward more repression will be revealed, for instance, in the increasing agitation for certain laws to have 'world-wide' scope (one thinks here of laws making 'holocaust denial' a crime) with increasing co-operation between 'national' Police forces and intelligence services, for instance in hunting down and bringing to 'Zionist justice' those who actively oppose the tyranny of International Finance. In the short term, ethnic conflict will not lead to the revival of ethnic States because it will not be in the interest of the world-wide Zionist tyranny - there may be minor conflicts, but these will be contained, with nothing, alas, significant unless and until this messianic tyranny is undermined and destroyed either from within, or by external conflict.

Once this tyranny begins to be seriously undermined or is destroyed, then interesting and significant developments will take place. So far, Arab nationalism and militant Islam have been and are the only serious, practical, threat to this increasingly world-wide Zionist tyranny - which is why the Jewish terrorist Government which presently occupies Palestine has tried and is trying desperately to prevent the spread of nuclear technology to nationalist Arab countries like Iraq and Islamic countries like Iran. In this, America has and is acting like the cowardly bully it has become since Zionists began covertly controlling its government. Thus, America alternatively threatens such countries with either military force, or economic/trade 'blockades', as it then tries to woo/blackmail them with military and/or financial aid. This is also, of course, why America went to war with Iraq - to safeguard the Zionist Occupation Government which presently rules Palestine - and why economic sanctions are still in force against that country.

What the Zionists fear most at the moment is an independent Russia which aligns itself with either Arab nationalism or militant Islam. (Interestingly, Zhirinovsky has recently been to Iraq.) I am sure the Zionists will work hard to prevent what would be, for them, such a 'nightmare scenario'. Meanwhile, we ourselves can try and undermine and help bring down this Zionist tyranny from within.

One of the countries with a future important role is Japan. The real and as yet unfulfilled Destiny of Japan is to create an Asiatic Empire. For this, it would have to free itself from the material imperialism of America and restore its natural and healthy ethos - Shinto and Bushido. The writer Yukio Mishima understood this, but as yet this understanding is unfortunately not very widespread in Japan itself.

Your Aeonic perspective of the Cycles of Civilization is scourced largely to Spengler and Toynbee. Using their historical methodology you have predicted, almost mathematically, the duration of this Old Aeon and when a new one will emerge with a quite precise time-scale. According to this, the New Aeon will not emerge until several centuries hence. Could not the uniquely world-embracing and intrusive technology of the West be speeding up the process, making such an Aeonic change far sooner than hitherto possible?

The chaos of the present seems to be the prelude to something new emerging. If this is not the New Aeon, then what is it? A period of chaos of several centuries duration, perhaps? Or a Plutocratic Imperium as per the 'New World Order'?

That prediction assumed a Western or Thorian Imperium created by the 'Caesar-figure' Vindex, and thus the removal of the Zionist money-power which has so undermined the vigour and health of the peoples of our civilization. Given this, it is possible that our Thorian technology could shorten the duration before the emergence of the next Aeon, provided this technology was harnessed to a numinous and Aryan goal, and provided this goal was rigorously pursued because for instance it was the official policy of such an Imperium. This would be a conscious, balanced and creative intervention, by us, in the process of evolution - something only now possible because of the understanding we have acquired. Or rather, because of the understanding some of us have acquired. This balanced, evolutionary and 'creative intervention' is fundamentally what National-Socialism is all about.

A New Aeon, and thus a new, higher, civilization, will only arise in the next few centuries if National-Socialism is triumphant. For this triumph to occur soon, there has to be more chaos than there is at present. If National-Socialism does not triumph somewhere soon on this planet, then there can only be the triumph of Zionist money-power and a lengthy barbaric and repressive interregnum which may last for several centuries. This in itself will assuredly decline and collapse, and provided some Aryans remain conscious of their Destiny and preserve the purity of their blood, a new Aryan civilization will emerge from the darkness of this tyranny. Were this Zionist triumph to occur, then a clandestine National-Socialism - or rather, esoteric Hitlerism - is the only means whereby this Aryan Destiny and Aryans themselves can be preserved, and a future civilization created. This is so because only National-Socialism expresses this Destiny, gives a conscious understanding of what is necessary for civilization, and has the numinosity required to inspire not only the fight for Aryan freedom but also dreams of future greatness.

What is your concept of 'Race': Darwinian (biological-determinist) or perhaps something more 'esoteric' (in the sense that Serrano has an esoteric concept for the origin of the Aryans, and the Theosophists with the 'Root races' and so on)?

My conception of race is realistic and practical and thus essentially Darwinian. Certain races and sub-races indisputedly exist, as they have become distinct races through the processes of Nature - through development and adaptation. I accept as a fundamental principle that the Aryan (or 'European') race is more highly evolved than other races, and has the capacity to be creative and noble and thus create civilization. What interests me and concerns me is the future - with making possible a higher development, a further evolution. To achieve this, it is necessary to be practical - to accept the foundations we have (the Aryan race) and use that to breed better, more developed individuals. I am not interested in fantastic tales about past, unprovable glories or in mythical origins. What is urgent and important is saving the most advanced race which now exists in order that future development can take place.

What do you think was the esoteric current behind the Third Reich and Hitler/the NSDAP? Did this derive from an ancient tradition, or was it of fairly recent origin via Thule, for example?

Basically, and as I mentioned in my The Enlightenment of National-Socialism, Adolf Hitler was a means whereby the cosmos restored the balance that had been lost. By creating the National-Socialist movement and by creating the Third Reich, Adolf Hitler gave us as Aryans the means to achieve that balance without which further evolution is impossible. In brief, he restored us to our unique racial psyche. He did this naturally, not mystically. That is, he was in a profound way supra-human and self-contained: the cosmos in evolution and being made manifest in an individual. I do not mean this in a 'theological' sense, but in a naturalistic way: he was what most of us have the potential to become; a more highly evolved being. What existed, esoterically or otherwise, before his emergence is now irrelevant - he himself, and his movement, are the esoteric current of our times and of the next Aeon. He relied on no previous esoteric current, and was not part of any - he was and is the current. This was why esoteric groups, including Thule, were banned in the Third Reich - they were not necessary, were irrelevant or were detrimental to the energies National-Socialism had unleashed and was using to re-shape the Aryan and the cosmos. In some ways, Thule helped prepare the way for Adolf Hitler - with his emergence, Thule was no longer necessary. The various NS organizations, such as the SS, became the practical means to achieve the transformations necessary. What has not even now been understood, except by a very few, is that National-Socialism was and is a practical alchemy which can achieve the goal that all genuine 'esoteric' groups seek to achieve: a new, higher, being. Moreover, and importantly, National-Socialism seeks to and can make this goal real for the majority, not just a select few.

I can only repeat that all esoteric groups which existed before Adolf Hitler are either now irrelevant, or, if they still exist, are now detrimental to future development: to the creation of higher beings. The only significant and important esoteric groups which now exist are those which, understanding the cosmic importance of Adolf Hitler, covertly or otherwise prepare the way for, and encourage, the future triumph of National-Socialism and 'esoteric Hitlerism'. Notice I did not restrict myself to mentioning 'Aryan' esoteric groups, for ultimately National-Socialism will enable our evolution as a whole species, as I have briefly explained in The Enlightenment of National-Socialism.

Considering the archetypal scope of NS and Hitler, do you consider that the persecution and hatred directed against these might actually be empowering them psychically? And, in general, if persecution actually serves to empower its target, could this not also be said for overt opposition to, for example, Christianity and Zionism? If correct, how can this paradox be resolved?

Persecution and hatred only empower up to a point. The energies so produced are limited, and beyond that point become destructive. What is archetypal needs to be made real; the psychic model which exists in people's psyche needs to be constructed in real life, 'in the world', and this means numinous energy. In its birth-time, and for a while afterwards, a new archetype can be empowered by persecution and hatred - but to thrive, to grow, to affect a multitude, to become real, it has to receive this numinous energy. This, however, arises naturally from those 'touched' by the archetype, and whose lives and actions further empower it. In a sense, it is a symbiotic relationship, a coming-together of two types of being, an archetypal one, not bound by causal space-time, and a 'human' being, living in causal space-time. The archetype gives strength, balance and 'wholeness' to individuals - and yet it itself becomes strengthened by this bond.

Few people really understand archetypes. They are living - they are born, they flourish, and they die. They are not an 'intellectual abstraction' for people to pretend to understand and try to use. Neither are they mystical in the sense of being 'incomprehensible'.

After the banning of esoteric groups by the Third Reich, what occult influence continued to impact upon the Third Reich, and did it have tangible organizational form? Who were its principal exponents?

There was no occult influence - for Adolf Hitler and the National-Socialist movement expressed all that was necessary, with the various National-Socialist organizations giving tangible form to the evolutionary energies which Adolf Hitler unleashed and controlled. What needs to be understood is that all these various organizations were necessary for the correct balance to be achieved and thus a numinous society, or State, created. National-Socialist Germany was more than just another State - it was the first time, in the history of our evolution as a species, that a State-form was used in an evolutionary way. Indeed, a new form was thereby created, and this form is so revolutionary, so crucial for our future as a species and as 'thinking-beings', that its importance cannot at this time be over-estimated.

There has been a tendency to try and identify the SS as the most important 'esoteric-type' organization of the Reich - as some sort of 'mystical' organization which embodied the principles of National-Socialism in a higher form. This tendency shows a basic mis-understanding of National-Socialism, the SS itself, and in particular what National-Socialist Germany was. The SS was a warrior organization, with an Aryan warrior ethos, and as such exemplified some of the highest Aryan ideals. It was also intended to be archetypal - creating its own traditions, and bringing about, partly through the test of combat, the development of higher beings. But other organizations embodied other Aryan ideals, and all of them together were necessary and vital for a healthy, balanced society to be achieved. The SS was a vital and necessary part of the practical organic whole that was National-Socialist Germany.

Were Hitler and others such as the mystically-inclined Hess and Himmler fully conscious themselves of their Aeonic roles, and perhaps even of their fated Destiny?

Adolf Hitler and Rudolf Hess certainly were aware of these things. Hess himself wrote, in 57 yf, after the victorious allies had hanged eleven Germans at Nuremberg: "What the death of these Eleven will one day mean, but few today can suspect, much less can I write about. We are standing on the threshold of a great new age. What we are all going through are its birth-pangs. Everything seems negative - yet despite it all, the time is coming when something new and great will be born."

How do you perceive the Third Reich and its defeat in Aeonic terms? Was it a premature experiment for something that did not belong to this Aeon - or perhaps the seeding for something centuries hence that was required to be established in this century in order to work itself upon future centuries?

The Third Reich - or as I prefer to call it, the first National-Socialist Reich - was a prelude to what might yet be. Its destruction, and the immolation of Adolf Hitler, provide us with the inspiration we must have to continue our upward development by creating a practical means, such as a State, which enables us to achieve this evolutionary development. Because of the work of Adolf Hitler and his German followers, because of the destruction of this work by our racial enemies, we have the weapons we must have in order to secure a future for ourselves and our race. We also now have the tools to build a new civilization greater than any existing hitherto. But this future and this new and higher civilized are not inevitable because of these things - they are not fated to be. Whether they will be, depends on us; on whether we pick up those weapons and those tools, and on how we use them.

Adolf Hitler was left us a great legacy. We can either use that legacy, and so achieve greatness; or we can ignore that legacy, and so choose doom as a race. If we as a race reject this legacy, we deserve to perish. We either survive, flourish and create new civilizations; or we endure oppression, and gradually die out. Using this legacy, it is possible for us, or our descendants, to win back our freedom, and so create another National-Socialist Reich, within twenty to fifty years from now. If this is not done - because we or our descendants prefer oppression and self-indulgence - then this legacy can still be used by others some time in the future to create a new Reich, provided of course there are still pure Aryans around then. But unless we act soon, the one great possibility which awaits - and which will secure civilization forever - will be postponed and may never arise again. I refer of course to a Galactic Empire. We are uniquely placed, given our Thorian technology and our understanding, to begin the process which will ensure the creation of this Empire. But if this is not done soon - if there is a long period of Zionist oppression, an interregnum - then this will no longer be feasible for many, many centuries; and may indeed never be feasible again, even if sufficient Aryans survive. This will be so because during this interregnum the Thorian ethos will decline and die, as will the technology which exemplifies that ethos. It would probably be over a millennia before the same level is reached again.

As a principal postwar philosopher of NS you seem to be the first to have given a star-bound vision to NS. Your vision is of mankind's evolution toward 'Homo Galactica' and a Galactic Empire. When and how did these concepts begin to take shape? What were the formative influences on it, and were there any philosophical or scientific precursors to you?

Ever since I was twelve or thirteen years of age I have known that our ultimate Destiny lies in the exploration and conquest of Outer Space. Since those years, the prospect has excited and intrigued me - as it excites and intrigues many young people. It was this which led me to study Physics and join a scientific society dedicated to encouraging Space travel. Like millions of others, I sat for hours on end to watch the live television broadcasts of the first human ever to walk on the surface of the moon. But I was also aware, at that time, that only a certain type of society could pursue and make real this ultimate Destiny - that it needed a new type of person, and a society dedicated to something more than self-gratification and materialism. What was needed was a society composed of noble individuals who strove to work together for the common good and who were ennobled by pursuing idealistic goals such as exploration and conquest.

When I first learned of the existence of National-Socialist Germany, at the age of fifteen, I knew intuitively that here was the type of society that was needed - or at least a prototype for it. And it was this knowledge, and my understanding of National-Socialism, which above anything else inspired me to become active in politics and forsake my dream of becoming a Physicist and finding some means to travel between the stars. I wanted and yearned to create the only type of society which could make this noble and glorious Destiny real. To me, the exploration and conquest of Outer Space - the creation of a Galactic Empire - is the ultimate practical expression of National-Socialism. It is our unique Destiny as a race - and our opportunity to achieve this is here, now, given our technology, our inventiveness, our heroism.

I hate the enemies of National-Socialism because I know that they are stifling and trying to destroy the heroic noble spirit of exploration and conquest which lives within our hearts and which alone raises us up out of the squalid mire of barbarism and selfish materialism. These enemies are trying - with their vapid materialism, their neurotic guilt, their obsession with sex - to kill our dreams. They are trying to destroy what makes us unique and human.

I have written and said what I have written and said about the Galactic Empire and National-Socialism because I feel these things deep within my own being. As to there being any philosophical or scientific precursors to this, I do not know.

Since you also write of NS as being a philosophy of BALANCE - reattuning the individual and the folkish community to Nature. How can such a balance be maintained in the pursuit of a Galactic Empire which would obviously require a far more technological and scientific orientated society than at present?

National-Socialism is harmonious, and thus a philosophy of balance, because it seeks to create a society, or a way of living, where the two things necessary for both health and advancement exist together, without conflict. Indeed, National-Socialism is so special, and so important for us, because it alone expresses how this can be done. To be fully healthy, as individuals, we need a harmonious, beautiful, environment, a sense of belonging and a sense of purpose. These things mean Blood and Soil - an awareness of our heritage, our place 'in the scheme of things'; an awareness of our duties and responsibilities toward our folk-community and our race. Blood and Soil also mean a sense of belonging: a homeland; somewhere special for us, where we belong.

But to advance, to evolve, we need change, challenges, a spirit of adventure. Otherwise there is stagnation and decay. Change means growth, and technology. A society is organic and healthy if it preserves what is best, and yet allows for growth, change and expansion. That is, there is a controlled balance maintained between Blood and Soil and Conquest and Exploration. What maintains this balance is a conscious awareness - an understanding that both are necessary and vital for a society to function properly and evolve naturally, in accordance with Nature.

National-Socialism accepts that individuals should fulfil the role which is suited to their character, talents and abilities, and it aims to create the type of society where individuals can make the best use of their talents and abilities. That is, National-Socialism values personal character, as it accepts that some people are suited to say, farming and husbandry, while others are more suited to scientific work, or being a warrior. What matters is that the work an individual does is respected; that all types of work are seen as dignified and necessary for the good of the whole society.

National-Socialism aims to harness and control growth and technology for the good of the folk, as it aims to preserve what is essential for individual health, what is essential for producing healthy children: Blood and Soil. By creating a healthy environment - and thus healthy children - by controlling and harnessing growth and technology, and by using these to pursue an idealistic noble goal such as the creation of a Galactic Empire, a real, conscious, balance can be created, for the first time in our conscious evolution. Further, because National-Socialism is a conscious expression of the wisdom of thousands of years of civilization, its organizations and structures aim to produce individuals of noble character, who can accept responsibility, who have judgement and who are instinctively wise. It is these individuals who can ensure such a balance is created and maintained.

Will there ever be a danger of stagnation and decay in the New Aeon as in all previous Aeons and their civilizations, or will the Galactic scope of the New Aeon give in an enduring (even eternal) quality that is unique to it?

Once the Galactic Empire becomes real, with colonization of other star-systems, then a natural divergence will take place, and new, unique, civilizations arise. Each world, each outpost, as it developes, will go through cycles of change; some will evolve; some will decay with new life emerging from such decay. Providing such stellar seeding, such conquest of other-worlds, continues, so will this Aeon. But there will probably come a time when even this forward movement ceases, and decay and stagnation set in, with the structure of such an Empire collapsing. Then other aeons [plural] will emerge, in different places, and at different times.

BOOKS

The Enlightenment of National Socialism by D W Myatt.
$10 from Renaissance Press, NZ.

The preface describes this as "how NS expresses wisdom, and the essence of our true humanity. NS can enlighten us - it can give us, as individuals, insight, enabling us to think and act wisely."

"The Numinous Significance of Adolf Hitler" describes this as his restoration of "the unique racial psyche" of the Aryan, and how he and NS have become "archetypal symbols possessed of psychic energy."

"NS: Wisdom in Action": is a 1 page essay on NS as restoring what is essentially "human" to individuals; the faculty of Thought and awareness of one's place "in the scheme of things".

"The Thousand Year Reich" describes NS as a "genuine folk-democracy" - an organic community which was the basis of the original Greek concept of democracy. As a community, it is the antithesis of a repressive dictatorship, preferring to exile those who cannot be part of that community, rather than kill or imprison (indeed, propaganda to the contrary, exile was the preferred method of the Third Reich prior to war).

Thormynd Press

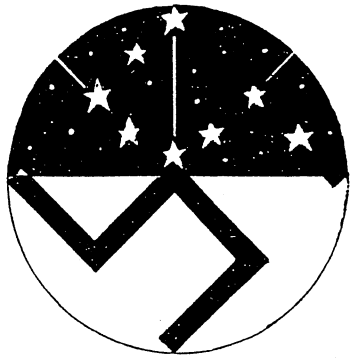
England

"The Truth About NS and Race Hatred" points out that NS recognizes racial divergencies as part of nature and since it is concerned with a separate Aryan life it doesn't seek to repress others.



Cosmic Reich: The Life & Thoughts of David Myatt
$10 from Renaissance Press, NZ.

Additional to the interview run in this issue are a number of essays by Myatt, including "The Spiritual Significance of Hitler", giving the background of his birth and struggle for power; "The Harmony of NS" defining the community-oriented nature of NS and its restoration of balance between the inidividual, the community and Nature; "What is Aryan?" defining the Aryan warrior, noble ethos; "The Galactic Empire & The Triumph of NS", providing an exciting, new starbound vision and evolution towards "Homo Galactica" via NS.

Miguel Serrano: Esoteric Hitlerist $7 from Renaissance Press, NZ.

This originally appeared as a two-part interview in "The Flaming Sword". It has been made available in booklet form for wider distribution. Serrano, as a Chilean diplomat, author and world traveller, has known some of the greatest cultural, political and scientific figures of our time. An intimate friend of Carl Jung and Herman Hesse, others of his acquaintance have included Ezra Pound and the Dalai Lama.

Serrano is a self-described "Luciferian" and "Esoteric Hitlerist". He has studied Tantra and Shiavism, indeed was Ambassador to India, and identifies Hitler, Odin and Shiva as archetypal heroes of the Aryan.

In this interview he considers the relationship of the Third Reich with Tibet, and with Luciferianism, the development of an 'occult science' in Germany leading to UFO's as a form of esoteric technology.

Extensive editorial footnotes.

The Black Order: An Introduction for Prospective Members 45pp. Ill. $15 from Renaissance Press, NZ.

This gives a seldom seen look for the 'outsider' into the details of the Order's philosophy. Material is drawn from a variety of sources: The Flaming Sword, Order correspondence with members and enquirers, and material circulated by the Order of Nine Angles, and Thormynd Press.

Essays include a background to the European esoteric current leading up to NS, including The Thule Society. "The Judaeo-Christian Bid for World Conquest" traces a conspiratorial apparatus behind the "New World Order", based on a "Millenial" doctrine within Zionist and Puritan banking coteries. Eminent historians and specific events are cited in support of the theory.

This is followed by an Order of Balder "Pontifex Maximus Report" on the effects of "Americanization" and a "universal consumer culture" destroying ethnic and national diversity in the quest for a "New World Order."

"Dualism" exposes the origins of the Judaeo-christian dualist morality which has undermined the healthy pagan ethos.

"The Odinic-Satanic Synthesis" is an article originally written for the French jounral "Ravens Chats", taking up the challenge of a French Odinist group that critiqued the rise of a Norse-based pagan Satanism. The writer shows that Loki, contrary to the French Odinist's claim, is not a late christian intrusion, but a primal Norse concept embodying the archetypes of The Trickster, Diabolus, and Enchained Giant. The cyclic nature of Indo-European cosmology is considered, as are the "dark" Norse entities as catalysts for change and evolution.

"Thulianism", by Christos Beest of the ONA, shows how NS transformed the old Norse runes into modern, living symbols, imbued with new meaning , and how NS became the modern and future embodiment of the European ethos.

"The Numinous Significance of Hitler" by D Myatt of Thormynd Press, considers Hitler as a modern archetype who restored balance and created a practical method for securing a new "Golden Age".

"Heresi", by another English writer, is an attack upon christian elements among contemporary NS. "In NS we already have our heroes, our Gods - our religion..."

"Social Darwinism, NS, & The Folkish Community"critiques the current craze among a new generation of self-styled Satanic Fascists who see NS as being an elitist reaction to suppress the "masses" of one's own folk. To the contrary, the great achievement of NS was to establish an organic community that ensured the welfare of every citizen, and achieved the 'deproletarianizing of the proletariat.'

"The Philosophical Foundations of NS" by Myatt, defines NS as a conscious agent of evolution in harmony with Nature. In his "Destiny of Western Civilization", and "The Galactic Empire" Myatt concludes that the destiny of the European is a Galactic Empire, and his evolution, that of "Homo Galactica."

"Discursus" is a collection of 4 letters by the Order G.M. detailing esoteric aspects of NS, its archetypal nature, The Third Reich as a "seeding" for the future Aeon and the death of Hitler and others as a "blood sacrifice" heralding that Aeon. The final letter quotes Hitler as declaring the aim of NS to be a new religion putting man on the road to godhood: "Man is becoming god. Man is god in the making."

The Religion of National-Socialism by David Myatt. $US10 (Overseas) $10 (NZ). Renaissance Press, Box 1627 Paraparaumu Beach, Wgtn. N.Z.

This is the ninth and culminating volume of Myatt's NS series. Here Myatt succinctly yet profoundly lays down the fundamentals for a "National-Socialist religion", developing the religiosity of NS that had previously been pioneered by Alfred Rosenberg, Savitri Devi, and Hitler himself who had intimated it as primarily a new spirituality of "Blood & Soil" that would eventually replace christianity.

Myatt defines religion as a philosophy or code of living, and NS as a "life-enhancing" religion, reflecting the Cosmos as a living, evolving Being of which we are all part. One chooses to either live according to the laws of this Cosmos or against it, and NS is held to be the conscious - human - means of achieving this, and reaching higher states of Being.

"The Nine Fundamental Principles of NS" offer a practical code of living, based on "honour, duty, loyalty."

"NS Celebrations & Ceremonies" include those for birth, Coming of Age, Marriage, Death, and the dedication of the "NS Honour Knife", which is carried at all times by the NS. These ceremonies are notable for their dignity and simplicity.

This volume has the potential for far-reaching, Aeonic implications and will hopefully be recognized by NS as a principal text of their creed. Reviewed by Ragnar

PERIODICALS

Resistance: The Music Magazine of the True Alternative. Quarterly $US12. Box 24700 Detroit, Mich. 48224 USA

This is a professional, glossy, multi-colour skinhead publication that breaks the stereotypes with its articulate and sophisticated manner. In addition to the skin genre, pro-white/pagan "Metal" also gets coverage.

This issue features the popular Joe Rowan, vocalist for "Nordic Thunder" who was murdered late last year by a Negro, shot while attempting to defend his friends from an unprovoked attack.

"The Illusion is Over" reviews "The Bell Curve", a controversial new survey of IQ tests by sociologists Charles Murray and Richard Herrnstein. "Population Explosion" by G Hawthorne, the editor, examines the problem from a Malthusian and eugenic perspective.

Interviews with "No Remorse", "Fortress", "Unleashed" (Sweden's Death Metal Odinists) and "Berserker". Also sundry news and views on the political and cultural scene.

Aorta #19, C/-Petak, Postfach 778 - A - 1011 Wien, Austria. $US3 plus 25% postage by International Money Order or cash.

This is a "Blood Axis" edition. It also includes an article by the editor of The Heretic entitled "Blood Vs. Money: The Conflict of Our time", a Spenglerian analysis of the dynamics of materialism and instinct on culture and civilization.

Featured is an interview with Michael Moynihan of "Blood Axis" and "Storm Productions". He talks of his interest in Mithraism, the martial religion popular among the Roman Legions, and its balance of both the "harsh reality of struggle and spiritual light." He is also fascinated by the mythos of Archangel Michael as a violent Solar deity, rather than as a christian saint. He sees Charles Manson as expressing, perhaps unconcsciously, Gnostic ideas and finds kninship between these and the National Socialist philosopher Alfred Rosenberg, all being aware of the polar symbiosis of creation & destruction. While he sees the left-wing as being ahistorical and shallow in its economic reductionism, he also sees NS as being racially reductionist, and prefers not to be limited to any specific ideology.

An article by Aorta's editor gives a history of Moynihan's activities from the founding of the experimental music group "Coup de Grace" in 1984. A number of quotes drawn from various sources follow, including Moynihan's identification with Europe rather than America, "an experiment that failed."

Lutte Du Peuple (French) ARS Editions, BP 778, 44029, Nantes, Cedex 04 France.

This journal of France's New Resistance is a refreshing change from the old-line, neo-nazi bigotry, embracing as it does Europe's post-war "Third Way" philosophy. An e.g. of The Third Way dialectic is given in headlines on the front page: "Ni Racisme - Ni Integration - Non A L'Immigration!", showing that the only means of avoiding both cultural genocide and race-hatred is to reject the multi-cultural immigration policies that lead to both.

An article on a French Fascist ideologue Lucien Rebatet, who considered both Communism and Fascism to be in a common fight with liberalism. A Russian "National Bolshevik" view of the European Thinker Julius Evola, entitled "Between the Right & the Left." "Bruits Europeens" reviews Boyd Rice and "Non", Michael Moynihan and "Blood Axis", plus several European "industrial" and "skinhead" bands.

Greystorm: Fighting Journal of the American Front #2 March/April 95. 6 issues: N. America: $US20, elswhere: $25. Box 12, Lake Grove, NY 11755

AF is organized into nation-wide activist units, ably led, dedicated and articulate. Issue #2 of "Greystorm" includes a history of AF, starting from 1981 when Robert Heick was arrested on a charge of "conspiracy to riot" and expelled from school for "polarizing racial tension". In 1984 Heick floated the AF name to San Francisco skins, and the next year began distributing literature, and made the first AF flag from a pillow case and old fleece sweat shirts, marching through SF at the head of skins and other youths.

In 1988 Heick became involved with Tom Metzger of White Aryan Resistance, after an initial approach from industrial musician and Satanic priest Boyd Rice. That year he was also fired from his law firm job at the behest of the ADL. Activities have included annual White Workers' Day Marches, a Hang Mandela Campaign in 1990, a pirate radio station, numerous riots, and the launching of two bands last year.

AF embraces "Third Way" National Socialism, emphasizing the revolutionary nature of NS, and rejecting any compromise with capitalism.

Revolutionary Nationalist: Official Journal of the American Front $US10 for 4 issues, overseas $14 by CASH or BLANK PAYEE money order only. American Front, PO Box 68333 Portland, Or. 97268 USA.

Edited by the Front's Chairman, Robert Heick, this first issue is well printed and illustrated, comprising a variety of articles on ideology and news analysis.

"20001 & Beyond" by the Mansonite, revolutionary NS author of "Siege", James Mason, predicts that the collapse of the USA will comes as suddenly as that of the USSR

"Eco-Fascism - Finnish Style" is a profile on the fisherman-philosopher Pentti Linkola, by Martin Krieggeist. Linkola, who eschews modern gadgetry as far as possible, believes overpopulation to be the primary world problem, and offers extremist solutions that horrify the avergae Greenies who consider him an "Eco-Fascist". He writes: "What to do when a ship carrying a hundred passengers suddenly capsizes and only one lifeboat? When the boat is full, those who hate life will try to load it with more people and ssink the lot. those who love and respect life will take the ship's axe and sever the extra hands that cling to the sides of the boat." He suggests an end to Third World Aid and to asylum for refugees. He believes a World War "would be a happy occasion for the planet." Also, "The USA symbolizes the worst ideologies in the world: growth and freedom." He regards the "Green movement" as the worst form of "human infantilism". "We still have a chance to be cruel, but if we are not cruel today, all is lost."

"Democracy" by Heick, contends that revolution rather than electioneering is the only option.

"Zhirinovsky: Champion of a New Russia?" by Milton Kleim, considers the possibilities presented by a Nationalist Russia under Zhirinovsky. His oddly named "Liberal Democratic Party" has as its main aim the preservation of "White civilization." Zhirinovsky, states that Germany should have been Russia's "faithful ally." That the two world wars could have been avoided. He advocates an "eternal alliance" between the two. He predicts America will fall apart ethnically. He believes German territorial claims should be settled with Germany justly, and would welcome Afrikaaner emigrants fleeing from Black rule. He sees himself in contradistinction to the present Russian rulers, "all those coughing, wheezing, sick types, with their heart attacks and strokes."

Kleim concludes that if Zhirinovsky is not a front-man for the System, then there could be once again a radiant glow penetrating the gloom.

"We Must Adopt a Radical New Philosophy" by Kleim contends that Western Civilization is not worth trying to "save", that it was from the start distorted by Levantine morality. That their must be a return to nature's balance.

"The Decline of Western Civilization", by Wes, shows that the System is literally falling apart, and that the only workable alternative is a "Third Position" rejecting both Left and Right.

"The Celts" by Krieggeist gives an overview of this farflung folk, and something of its society and deities.

"What do they arrest me for? For being too white and too good-looking," says Bob Heick (right), with his American Front friend, Boyd Rice.

INDUSTRIAL MUSICIAN & SATANIC PRIEST BOYD RICE IN AF UNIFORM, WITH AF LEADER ROBERT HEICK

The New Order #14 Subscription 12 issues: US $20, elsewhere $30. Box 6414 Lincoln, NE 68506 USA.

This is the tabloid newspaper of the NSDAP-AO, founded to re-establish the NSDAP in Germany via operations from abroad. From its US base it has been the leading distributor of NS literature to Europe, much of it clandestinely, as NS is banned in Germany, Austria and elsewhere. (Indeed, as this is written we hear that NSDAP-AO director Gerhardt Lauck has been arrested in Denmark for smuggling material into Germany).

In addition to "The New Order", NSDAP-AO publishers papers in 9 other languages! In this issue I find "Black 'Heroes' of the White Race" particularly interesting. Mentioned are black separatists Booker T Washington, Marcus Garvey, Elijah Muhammed, and Louis Farrakan. Especially interesting is the account of Josephine Baker, an erotic Black dancer of the 20s and 30s. On her 1935 European tour she declared herself an admirer of Mussolini and praised the Italian invasion of Ethiopia. Pro-Fascist even after the war she secured a post in Peron's Government in Argentina. Later still, she was condemning the civil rights movement as communist infiltrated, and Martin Luther King as "a phoney icon".

Gambanreidi Statement #4

An Odinist-NS Perspective on Life, Faith, & Events. $18 US, elsewhere $24 by Money Order: GS, Box 616 Springville, AL. 35146 USA

"Six Essays on Economics & Folk Communities" address in some detail practicalities usually glossed over by others. Starting from the economic premises of National Socialism brought into the modern context, measures would include worker shares in profits and participation in management, elimination of usury, encouragement of smaller, local enterprise, and national economic planning. While this is the ideal for a future Government, also dealt with are alternatives for the present, such as how family-based communities adhering to paganism and NS can function within the System.

"Olvir of Egg & the Spring Sacrifice" by Roskva is an exceptionally beautiful story "based on actual events" in 11th C. Norway, about a family who are steadfast to their Odinist faith in the midst of King Olaf's christian repression.

"NS Primer" by M J Kleim, also distributed as a booklet and via Internet, is an especially lucid and positive description of NS in question-and-answer format. It's pointed out, for e.g., that far from being "male chauvinists", NS Germany held out the option of professional careers for women who had the aptitude. Hitler even broke with tradition in awarding the Iron Cross to the famous test pilot, Flight Capt. Hannah Reitsch.

"Third Reich & Christianity" examines how the Churches fared in NS Germany. It quotes Hitler's reply to Gen. Ludendorff, who had started an anti-Christian Wotanist movement, as far back as 1929 as giving the General complete agreement, but pointing out the practicalities of politics prevented the Nazi party from addressing the religious question. "The rest can come later", Hitler concluded. Even the Nazified "German Christian movement" was put under restrictions.

"Ernst Zundel & the Faith of NS" is an interview with the Canadian-German civil rights activist who has endured many years repression at the hands of Canadian authorities, at the behest of Zionism, for his questioning of the sanctity of the Holocaust legend. In this interview Zundel is given the opportunity to discuss the positive aspects of NS. We learn that as a youth in Germany he was educated to believe the Allied propaganda about NS; becoming a pacifist as a result, he emigrated to Canada to avoid the draft. After becoming a successful and wealthy artist, Zundel met the Canadian NS leader Arcand, and so began Zundel's years of intensive study to learn the facts about his heritage. He points out that NS Germany was the first to implement "Green" policies, such as prevention of soil erosion, and the construction of tunnels beneath roads to ensure the safe transit of animals.

PERSECUTED GERMAN-CANADIAN CIVIL RIGHTS ACTIVIST ERNST ZUNDEL

He opines that had Germany won, man would have walked the moon in 1951, that Hitler had approved a space station for 1947-48; that "we would have undoubtedly been landing on Mars by now." He also repudiates Christianity in favour of NS as a "religion."

THE HOLOCAUST :

PRECONCEIVED IDEAS & COMPULSARY BELIEF

These days one can ask an average individual what he/she thinks the Holocaust is about and you will most likely get an answer like: "The killing of 6 million jews in gaschambers by Nazis"; I think it is quite safe to say that most part of the population thinks something in the same vein. This is not really suprising, it is what they have seen on telelvision or have read in a book/newspaper or/and have been taught on school, college or University.

Probably a big part of this population is also vaguely aware that there exists a group of people who deny that the Holocaust took place, some of their claims are: that there existed no gas chambers for the purpose of killing jews, and that there existed no programme that ordered the extermination of jews and that no 6 million jews ever could have been gassed etc.,they are called Holocaust denyers, very few people of the population have actually been able to study the evidence which accompanied those claims, for reasons which will be discussed later.

One can say that everybody has formed him/her self an opinion without hearing/reading or seeing "the other side" of the story, which is at least strange, when there has been a fight for example one will always say/hear "I want to hear the 2 sides of the story"..that this is not strange or wrong is proven by the fact that this is the way how it works in Court, or at least should be, the judge/jury only comes to a verdict after hearing both the Prosecution as well as the Defence, when one is going to make a big investment probably even more opinions are gathered, in other words one can say that with an important decision to make everybody weighs the posibilitys, I think accusing a folk/political form/a group of people or whatever, of the death of 6 million jews is a very big and important decision, which needs a thorough study involving both sides of the story, but this is made absolutly impossible over the past years.

Actualy it is not so strange that many people havent actually read, seen or heard "the other side" of the story, the literature is made illegal so nobody of the public can form his/her own opinion about the Holocaust, why is that?, what is it that the governments are so afraid of?, if 6 million jews were really killed in gas chambers, a programm of exterminating jews existed etc. which is accepted by everybody as a proven fact, for which many many people were butchered, tortured, hung, locked up, beaten up, convicted, assasinated or forcebly expelled, why then is this literature not made available to the public?, so everybody can see for themselves how ridiculous the authors and their literature is, trying to deny all that happened..or isnt it that ridiculous what the Holocaust denyers write after all?

No!, freedom of thought on the Holocaust question is not allowed, it is even made illegal, but still a few authors and publishers had/have the courage to come forth with their side of the story, regarding what awaits them, and what is that exactly?, lets take a look at the following examples: the anti zionist Jew Josef Ginsburg who produced, under a psuedonym, 3 books in which he only questioned the 6 million figure, not denied, he was beaten up by Jewish thugs while visiting his wifes grave, or Dr. Wilhelm Staeglich a Hamburg judge who was at Auschwitz in 1944 himself of which he published his recollections, and when he retired he was given a 20% cut on his pension for five years as punishment, also he had his papers confiscated, or the Lawyer Manfred Roeder who published Christophersens booklet " Die Auschwitz Luge" he was fined and given a suspended prison sentence, or Paul Rassinier, after the release of his "Le Mensonge d ulysese", He and the preface author and publisher were accused, but acquited, then found guilty with judgements involving fines, damages, and suspended prison sentences but finally acquited again, or R.Faurisson who was suspended from his University Post, and later charged with incitement to murder and/or racial hatred, or Hellmut Diwald who had his work supressed and was forced to re write parts of his book "Geschichte der Deutschen", or Francois Duprat who was assasinated in March 1978 by the so called "Auschwitz Rememberance Commando", or Francesco Maniameli, a Professor of History and Philosophy at Palermo Italy, he was shot as well, or The Institute For Historical Review in the USA who are responsible, for example, for the release of books from A.R. Butz (The Hoax of the Twentieth Century), W. Staeglich (Auschwitz: A judge Looks at the Evidence), P. Rassinier (The Holocaust and the Lies of Ulysses), they receive(d) death threats by mail and telephone, suffered exstensive property damage: including five relatively minor fire bombings, one drive-by shooting and 2 physical attacks and their Office-Warehouse was destroyed in an arson attack on July 1984, property loss over $400,000, this list is by no means complete but it should at least give you an idea why this subject, the Holocaust denial, is shrouded in silence, who wants to bring in danger his life and property?, or spend time in jail?, is this freedom of speech?

One of the easiest tactics in attempting to undermine the fact filled literature of the Holocaust denyers, is to link it with the Extreme Right Wing, Neo-Nazism, National Socialism, Fascism etc, those terms are, by almost everybody, immediatly connected to the alleged Holocaust, a comment which one will hear very often is; " you can not speak or write in favour of National Socialism, Right Wing, Fascism etc. "it is terrible"! look to what it lead in WWII!". The word "what" refers of course to The Holocaust/The Final Solution, gas chambers, extermination of 6 million jews etc. all terms which create a very unpleasent feeling for most people, it alsomst hase become natural for everybody to feel that way. One can easily say that over the past years it has been made impossible to have an objective look/view on National Socialism or the Holocaust, everybody has compulsory pre-concieved ideas about the whole thing.

Although the literature of the Holocaust denyers is not accesible to the public, the responce on the Holocaust denyers is, but still, such pale efforts do not come close to the usually well researched and documented works from the Holocaust denyers.

Lets take for example the book " Denying the Holocaust" by Deborah Lipstadt, I have no need to analyse the whole book here, I will leave that to a seperate article. If I was to use the very same methods used by the author to discredit the Holocaust denyers I could just as well stop here by writting: "this book is of absolutely no relevance since it is a research project of The Vidal Sassoon International Center for the Study of Antisemitism of the Hebrew University of Jerusalem", but No, I shall read and analyse it with an, for as much as possible, objective eye (that is, without ideas about impartiality and the personal interests which the Author has.

For now we are only interested in Chapter 7 "Entering the Mainstream: The case of Arthur Butz" page 123 - page 136. Prof. Butz his book "The Hoax of the 20th Century" is one of the best written and researched books on the subject, so one might expect that, if she is going to attempt to prove the wrong of this book, that she would come up with a book at least as thick and well researched as the book of Prof. Butz which she assaults, but no, nothing is less true, Deborah thinks she can ridicule the whole book (2nd edition 315 pages) in no more than 14 pages, 14 pages are a lot if they were filled with convincing arguments/facts/prove against Prof.Butz but no, instead of providing the reader with the convincing information (that is, proving that the Holocaust denyers are lying and that their proof is false) which one might expect to find in such a book, she cant do more than trying to discredit A.Butz, turning around facts and proof, ignoring very important questions raised by Prof.Butz, and so on.

For those people not familair with the literature of the Holocaust denyers this book will prove that the Holocaust denyers are liars, because the book is written in such a way that it perfectly fits to their ideas about the Holocaust and the "nasty" people who try to deny it, but those who have investigated the literature objectively (i.e. without prejudice and setting aside what they have been told/taught/shown whole their life,), which is very difficult, will agree with me that this book, despite its intends, ironically enough, only aids the work of the people she tries to assualt, and al this simply because no serious attempt is made or can be made in proving that the literature of the Holocaust denyers is a lie, or at least full of errors.

It must be seen by everyone that National Socialsim/Extreme Right Wing/etc is brought in discredit for most of the Western people, by tales like the Holocaust, slowly the lie might unfold, but there is no harm in speeding the whole process up.

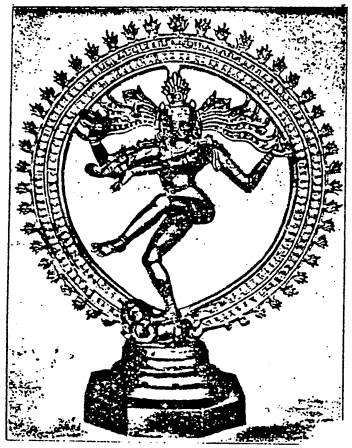
SHIVA, GODS, & DAIMONS

SIVA has imparted His divine sparks in both the Daimons occupying the left hand side and the Gods occupying the right hand side. The Gods inhabit the Spiritual Spheres and the Daimons occupy the Natural Spheres of Samsara. Traditionally the Spiritual Spheres are above Nature and partake of the Sun and the day, whereas Nature partakes of the Moon and the night. Both sections are from the Supreme One Source: SIVA. To Him are ascribed the Castfree liberated saints and the cast of the priests, further below on the Right with the Sun-lord are the Gods-related cast, the ksatriyas; then on the Left and with the Moon-lady are the casts of producers, traders and servants. There is also as a result of a degeneration within the Left Hand Side (and possibly the Right Hand Side) The Outer Darkness: an outcast sphere of demons, psychic residues and fallen gods whose social correspondence is the cast of the castless or outcasts, those latter are unfortunately predominant in this World due to the cyclical fall now as Kali Yuga. Dynamic Order partakes of both the confrontation and the co-operation between the Daimons and the Gods. A complex and subtle interplay occurs for seemingly endless aeons between both polarities till exhaustion of the potentialities of a specific cycle and the consequent death of it before a new cycle begins. At the end of one specific cycle, the demons rebel against both Gods and Daimons in trying to establish a static chaos called the End of History. That manifests through the establishing of a levelled-down society within the human sphere. As always Dynamic Order prevails, the demons will be relegated to the cosmic dustbin when the fight between Daimons and Gods will burn skies and earth.

CASTES

BUT ON BOTH SIDES OF THE FENCE ARE THE DIVINE SPARKS OF SIVA. So through either the Moon-worship (and her Daimons-related cult) or the Sun-worship (and her Gods-related cult) one acknowledges SIVA. Choosing a path ascribes one to one specific sphere. The Daimons tend to outer trend and thus create civilisation in which producers and servants find their comforts; whereas the Gods privilege the fortress and the military and virile austerity, and due to them giving up everything but Fight and Victory their Sphere is consequently less condensed and purer than the Samsara-belonging Daimons. Subtleties exist between both polarities and there are various orders of warriors within the Daimonic sphere, and various corporations of producers within the Gods sphere. The priests can be found also in both polarised spheres with the equivalent wisdom belonging to that specific sphere.



POLARITY & HIERARCHY

So either through the Left Hand Path and the Inverted Pentagram , or the Right Hand path and the Upright Pentagram does one acknowledge the Unity through one's acceptance of the other polarity. BUT THERE IS A HIERARCHY AND THE DAIMONS SIN WHEN THEY TRY TO OVERCOME ARROGANTLY THE GODS. However they have to excel in their left manifesting of SIVA so that they have to manifest this occasional and cyclical arrogance (the myths of Promethee and Satanael). During some cycles the Daimons seem predominant but are cyclically superseded by the Gods. There is a borderline in which the spheres partake both polarities. Here inhabit Daimons and Gods on the cusp. But Androgynat isn't theirs, for it is above in the non-divided Unity of SIVA. Thus within the human sphere are occasionally found the female souls within the male bodies and the male souls within the female bodies. But they won't, unless prone to staticly chaotic castlessness, commit themselves into the impasse of homosexuality, not to the extent of polluting their genetics for the sake of their descendants.

SIVA/SET/HORUS

I SIVA ~~provide~~ you with a dynamic harmony and command you to worship me through the excellence of your actions. Be I Set the Ancient or Horus the Youth, I will always be the Unique Reference in the end. Be you the children of the Moon or the children of the Sun, you realise now that the rising tide of castlessness endangers your very own existence. The candala destroy differentiation, for a differentiated creature reminds them what they are and what they hate. Hence they try to annihilate variations under the misguided rule of the Deluded Equalitarian. It wants to parody my Very Unity promoting this uniformity. However even that abject chapter was willed by me for the sake of polarised Dynamic Order which, through Death, triumphs upon Inertia and Static Chaos.
So remember that when you will be fighting against each other in the coming Ragnarok for my Name's sake, which is Dynamic Order or the Uralten Force, do not forget to terminate castlessness, this very denying of the polarities and Dynamic Order, however willed by me it is.

HERESI

Correctly understood, National-Socialism is a form that expresses in a fundamental, practical sense, the ethos of the West. This ethos is, of course, 'Aryan', with its origins as a civilization rooted in the West - in fact, to be precise, in Britain. The first known civilization, named by the Ancient Greeks as the 'Hyperborean', existed in Britain (then known as 'Albion') 7,000 BP (Before Present), predating that of the Indus by some 2,000 yrs. Contrary to the views of conventional Archaeologists and Historians, there is a Tradition which maintains that prior to the arrival of Julius Caesar, Albion was not a savage, tribal culture at all. This Tradition - which has some physical evidence to support itself (ie. Skara Brae, the Sweet Track, Stonehenge - amongst others) - credits the Hyperboreans with many achievements: the invention of the wheel; the beginnings of Philosophy, and Astronomy; and perhaps, most notably, the formation of Agriculture, and the overseas trading of timber - as far afield as Canada and Mesopotamia. On the esoteric level, the various stages of Stonehenge marked the later (or 'Winter') phase of this Hyperborean Aeon, 'religion' by this time having declined (coinciding with the emergence of the Druids). However, the 'magickal' tradition of Albion continued, indirectly, via the Greek Mystery Cults - qv. 'Kabeiroi'. [Fragments of this esoteric tradition have survived to present day: some aspects are still relevant as archetypal forms that remain in the Western psyche, their function (or rather 'Destiny') yet to be fulfilled; whilst others are just faint echoes of what may once have been.]

The contribution to and/or creation of other civilizations by Aryans - such as the Sumerian, and the aforementioned Hellenic - is fairly well established (albeit not often via conventional sources, for obvious reasons). What drove our earliest ancestors was that 'Promethean' or 'Thorian' Soul so characteristic of the Aryan race: that forward-looking, war-loving spirit intent on 'civilizing' (that is, creating evolution). This soul has found glorious expression throughout the ages since Albion - via the Vikings, Franks, Angles, and, of course more recently via the Third Reich. Fundamental to this way of living was Empathy: a flowing with Nature as Nature is in Herself, without the devolutionary trend of projecting abstract moral ideas onto the cosmos. Thus, the genuine Religion of the West was (and is) not as is understood today by the term 'Religion' (ie. prostrating oneself before an Eastern redemptive 'God'), but as 'integration', a becoming-one-with the forces of existence within the confines of one's own Folk. This was what was originally meant by 'worship': Harmony with Nature - an understanding that one's life was inescapably part of the greater Destiny of one's own Folk. When Warriors died in battle for their Land, they then lived on in the hearts of their Community via their heroic deeds. In time, they became the 'Gods' that gave the Fire of inspiration and life to a People. This was the genuine Western conception of the 'Afterlife' - not some ethereal realm, but a spirit linked intrinsically to the physical via the Aryan values of Honour, Loyalty, and Nobility.

Another word that describes this Aryan approach to living is 'Pagan'. Why then, do some National-Socialists still adhere to that Eastern religion, Christianity? In a sense, this adherence is not surprising since Christianity is still regarded by most as that which forms the basis of any civilized society; that prior to the arrival of Christianity, it is well known that Britain, for example, was barbaric, primative ...

Christianity was anything but a civilizing influence. From the centre of Judaism it launched an assault on the West until our once proud Warrior ancestors were brought to their knees, burdened and diseased with alien, morbid thoughts concerning sin and death - all for the cause of spreading further the Zionist ethos. Some will maintain that there are vital differences between the Old and New Testaments - but in essence, both doctrines have the same aim. Christianity, like Communism, 'Social Sciences' et al, is a particular manifestation of something greater than itself - that something greater is the Magian/Zionist Soul, with its aim of fulfilling certain messianic prophecies (that is, creating a 'new world order' whose centre will be based in the Middle East). Essentially, Christianity was created to aid this aim.
